Meals in Britain

A typical full English breakfast is very big meal – sausages, bacon, eggs, tomatoes, mushrooms and of course toasts. But today many people don't have time to eat all this and just have a toast, or sometimes fruit and yoghurt. The typical breakfast drink is tea, which people have with cold milk. Some people have coffee made with just hot water. Many visitors to Britain think this coffee is terrible!

For many people lunch is a quick meal. In cities there are a lot of sandwich bars, where office workers can choose the kind of bread they want, and then all sorts of salad and meat or fish. Pubs often serve good, cheap food, both hot and cold. School children can have a hot meal at school, but many of them take only a snack from home - a sandwich, a drink, some fruit, and perhaps some crisps.

People eat their evening meal quite early, often at about six o'clock. A typical dinner is meat and vegetables, especially on Sundays, when all the family eat together.
